New Outside Salesman

As Seven D Windows continues to grow, thanks to your support, we are bringing in more employees to help service your needs. We are happy to introduce our new Outside Salesman, Jeff Nycum. Jeff has been in sales for 22 years and is bringing his experience to help our business grow.

Jeff started his training on the production floor in 2019, building windows and learning the process. He saw first hand the effort and passion Seven D employees put into each window unit. All of our salesmen have started on the production floor before moving to sales. Production training gives them a huge advantage in the field to understand the technical side of window operation.

Get to know Jeff:

Jeff spends his free time with his family. He enjoys traveling to his daughter's dance competitions and his son's baseball & football games.
